As careers reshape for the future across all industries, the one thing all our industry partners have in common is that they are looking for people who bring unique attributes and diversity to their organisation. The Co-op Program embraces this by looking for self-directed activities that students have undertaken in High School to develop a broader, more diverse skill set and strengthened sense of purpose and direction. Some highlights this year which really impressed us were:

- 73% were working part-time during Year 11/12
- 53% of scholars were volunteering on a regular basis
- Diverse self-directed career skill building activities incl. community leadership, entrepreneurial competitions/future innovator awards, code competitions, podcasts, hackathons etc.

I believe the most valuable contribution my Careers Adviser gave during the Co-op application process was urging me to believe in myself and be confident.
